Structure, woods blazes In bad fire season

Although the fire season is not yet in full swing, the East Hancock County fire department is already busy. In addition to two department engines and six fire fighters, the area around and two County Sheriff's Department deputies responded to the blaze.

Later that day the BaySide fire department was reported at about 10:30 p.m., Marsh said.

The investigator said the three-alarm blaze was brought under control when fire fighting units arrived at the trailer of Rex B. Harris at the corner of Sumner and Jefferson streets.

Harris works in the offshore oil industry and was away from home at the time of the blaze, Marsh said.

Marsh said the Wayland Fire Department and the East Hancock County Sheriff's Department volunteers fire departments each sent one unit to the fire. He noted some 10 fire fighters fought the blaze.

The investigator added that two deputies and the area sheriff also responded to the fire.

Marsh said a hot water heater electrical short as cause of the Wayland fire which destroyed a kitchen and bathroom and caused smoke

Revenue sharing fund aired, Bay council ok's fiscal budget

By KERRY MADEY
The Bay St. Louis City Council proposed Monday all 1981-82 revenue sharing money for lighting city streets and for garbage pick-up at a public hearing Monday night.

Of the $100,000 in the city's revenue sharing budget, the council proposed spending $50,000 for garbage pick-up and $50,000 for street lighting.

The remaining $50,000 is proposed to be used as a fund to cover an increase in the cost of electricity proved allocating the revenue sharing money.

Geraldine Jans, president of Concerned Citizens of Hancock County, said she felt the money could be better spent by improving road conditions, especially State Street.

Fayre said road improvement could be allocated from the general fund which would increase utility and complaints of discrimination. He stated other revenue from other programs is expected to help improve housing and recreational facilities in the city.

meeting, questioned $155,000 spent for garbage pick-up annually by the city. He also questioned a $40,000 deficit which the city has incurred each year as a result of contracting a private firm to collect garbage.

Jans said the city should examine a deficit after they have it (a garbage pick-up contract) to a private firm, he said.

City Manager, James W. Gentry, responded to Jans' statement. He said Fayre said the city had a deficit in the past, but it was not a problem.

Waveland man complains city won't give him water

By BRENT MACEY

A Waveland resident whose well went dry claims the City of Waveland is blocking his attempts to connect with city sewerage for political reasons.

The city's position, however, claims connecting the home to city sewerage is illegal, says that city ordinance which requires all homes to be connected to the city sewerage.

Under the ordinance, both John R. Hayward, 58 Beach Boulevard and his wife are relying on a garden hose extending from a neighbor's house to their house.

Problems for the Haywards began Friday, Sept. 18, when their well suddenly went dry either because of break in the pipe or a clogging of a strainer far underground.

Hayward said a well expert told him his best bet was to connect with city water since many beach front property owners are currently having problems with their wells going bad.

Hayward, who claims he is blocked from access to city water lines by adjoining property, received approval for an easement from one neighbor to run a water line along a driveway which is common to several homes in that area.

Hayward planned to use that easement to connect his house to the city's water line on Beach Boulevard. He purchased some 100 feet of pipe needed for the connection, talked with a city man in charge of connecting the city's water meter, made plans to rent a backhoe for the job, and then went to city hall for a permit.

Here Hayward contends he was denied the permit because his house is not connected to city sewerage.

Hayward, in a letter to the editor appearing in today's issue, explains what happened after he went to city hall for the permit.

He claims he got the run-around for political reasons because he does not support Waveland's governing authorities.

Waveland Mayor John Longo disagrees. Hayward is getting a run-around.

"He called me and five minutes later he had his connection to the city water line," Longo said.

"He was here an hour. I explained everything to him," he stated.

"I pointed him in the right direction as to what he would have to do to get city water."

That included having Hayward comply with the ordinance requiring he connect to city sewerage. Longo claims the city ordinance makes it mandatory for anybody to connect to city sewerage, if possible, before receiving city water.

"Since Hayward is using a common driveway with a neighbor, Longo said he has access to city water."

"If he drives across the property, he's got to have an easement," Longo said.

The man is simply trying to avoid the law," Longo said.

The mayor stated he knew of several elderly people in the community who borrowed money from a bank to connect to city sewerage so they could be good law abiding citizens.

He said connecting to city sewerage cost him $4,000.

The mayor said he felt Hayward could connect into a sewerage line with another neighbor at a cost of $1,000.

Hayward estimates connecting to the city water would cost him $4,000.

However, he said he doesn't want to ask his neighbor for an easement to place his sewer line along the common driveway.

A neighbor behind his property did that, Hayward said, and now is connected to another neighbor's sewerage system.

"I think it's nerve to ask him (his neighbor for an easement)," Hayward said.

He said his neighbor consented to the water easement, but requested the digging be kept to a minimum.

He told him it was OK (to dig a water line) if it wasn't going to dig up a lot of his yard," Hayward said.

He stated a sewer line would require deeper digging than constructing a water line, some three to four feet deep or deeper in places to insure the correct to accident, Hayward said he was afraid his neighbor might refuse to consent to granting an easement, but his neighbor's son said:

"I sold my house and was moving the people who moved in, then he could cut them off," Hayward said.

Longo said the ordinance was passed as a necessity for the city.

He stated some people could refuse to connect to the sewerage system, and thus become a burden for those who did.

Longo's chief attorney could not be reached for comment. However, another attorney who wished to remain anonymous, stated most utility easements are granted by one party to another because of easement to the property in which the easement was granted.

He stated the easement would be included in any sale after the easement was granted.

However, he stated some easements can be granted for a limited number of years or to a certain party.

Most easements are appurtenant, he said.

DRUG QUIZ

by Carl Berberich, Ph.D.
University of Maryland
QUESTION: The prescription category of drugs known as the depressants, sedatives, hypnotics, and anxiolytics, and anti-anxiety drugs are frequently abused. Which of the following is not a characteristic of these drugs?
(a) 10%
(b) 20%
(c) 30%
(d) 40%

ANSWER: A general rule of thumb is that anybody who has been discovered to have been abusing these drugs, including the barbiturates, must be given four times the recommended dosage of the drug for 30 days should be admitted to the hospital for gradual detoxification.

Detoxification can be accomplished by using decreasing doses of phenobarbital for VALIUM over a 7-10 day period of time. Withdrawal should be done under a physician's care. In rare instances, this is accompanied by delirium, disorientation, depersonalization and hallucinations.

The image shows a vintage advertisement for Saltnes. It features a large, ornate sign with a dark, textured background. The sign has a decorative border and contains the following text:

- At the top, in a small box: WINE
- Below that, in a larger box: WINE
- In the center, in a large, stylized font: SALTNES
- Below the brand name, in a large, stylized font: 2
- To the right of the number 2, in a smaller font: THE
- Below the number 2, in a smaller font: FOUR
- To the right of the number 2, in a large, stylized font: $1.00

The sign is set against a dark, textured background, possibly a wall or a backdrop. The overall style is reminiscent of early 20th-century advertising.

Biblic gastronomics to highlight first Oxford Folklife Festival

The aroma of good food from Southern fried chicken and Polish sausage to French pastry and Greek baklava will fill the air in Oxford, Miss., at the first Oxford Folklife Festival.

Some 30 local individuals and restaurants will offer a variety of Southern and ethnic delicacies for sale at the festival, which is being held to celebrate Southern folklife. The day-long festivities, scheduled from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., also will feature folk art exhibits and performances of music and dance. The festival coincides with the 1981 Southeastern Conference Oct. 1-3 in Miss. More than 300 artists and art technicians are expected to attend the conference, which will encompass a full range of art from folk to contemporary, technological art.

"The meeting will be highlighted by a public lecture on technological art and a dramatic presentation of 'sky art' by Otto Place, director of the Center for Advanced Visual Studies at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Participants in the art conference have been invited to attend activities of the Oxford Folklife Festival.

Food is a special aspect of Southern culture, and it will have an important part in the Oxford Folklife Festival, said Jo Dale Mitchell, coordinator of food concessions for the festival. "We will have foods to satisfy every taste," she said.

There will be Greek, Italian, Chinese, French, Polish, Lebanese, Polish, South American and African foods, as well as traditional Southern favorites like fried chicken, fried catfish, cornbread, and ham. The festival will also feature a variety of international foods from around the world.

Ms. Mitchell said all foods offered at the festival will be prepared by local chefs and restaurants. The festival will also feature a variety of international foods from around the world.

Music featured during the festival will range from folk to contemporary, technological art.

The Oxford Folklife Festival is sponsored by the Mississippi Arts Commission, the Oxford Chamber of Commerce, and the University of Mississippi. All events will be free and open to the public. Further information is available through the Center for the Study of Southern Culture at 801-232-5525.

Solar energy conference to include student forum

A student forum on earth-sheltered housing will be conducted from 7:30-9:30 p.m. Monday as part of a two-day conference on passive solar energy and earth-sheltered housing in Jackson.

The conference, which is sponsored by the Alabama School of Mines and Energy Development, is co-sponsored by the Mississippi Department of Energy and Transportation and the Southern Solar Energy Center.

Coordinated by the University of Southern Mississippi Division of Continuing Education, the conference is designed for architects, builders, building material suppliers, lenders, insurance agents, realtors and interested individuals.

Similarly, the student forum is aimed toward students in architecture, engineering and environmental technology. It will feature two of the speakers who will also address the conference audience. They were Bruce Anderson, a research associate and engineer at the Underground Space Center, Minneapolis, Minn., and Simmons, a designer and builder of earth-sheltered homes.

The forum will be held at the Mississippi Educational Television Auditorium, 1855 Parkway Dr., Jackson, and is also sponsored by the University of Southern Mississippi and Mississippi State University.

Students must present valid identification cards when they pay the $5 fee.

For further information or to obtain a registration form, contact the Office of Business and Industrial Programs, Division of Continuing Education and Public Services, Southern Station Road 5500, Hattiesburg, Miss. 39406, or telephone (601) 266-1276.

Vo-Tech enrollment at 282

Pearl River College has another record fall enrollment, according to Dr. William Lott, director of admissions.

Hancock County campus enrollment is about 1,000 students, more than any other school in the county.

Academic, vocational, technical and business campus enrollment is about 1,000 students, more than any other school in the county.

The processing of new transfer and returning students was extended to two full days this year because of the expected enrollment increase. Between 175 and 200 students, personnel and faculty were required on that day.

Poplarville campus enrollment was a smooth registration which was held in the academic and library buildings.

"This school year, we have taken a new approach in recruitment and student relations," said Dr. Lott. "We have a director of student recruitment and a director of student relations."

Dr. Lott said that the new approach in recruitment and student relations has been successful.

Hancock developing bee-sting immunity

By EDGAR PEREZ

Hancock North Central's Hawks this week were working to get airborne Friday night after being grounded by the Pass Christian Pirates last week.

The Hawks are expected to be facing another strong offense this week against the Pass Christian Pirates. In last week's game, the Hawks were outscored 24-0. The Pirates' offense was led by quarterback Rocky Gaudin, who threw for 200 yards and three touchdowns.

Bond, Smith take D'head Pal Tourney

Cool weather brought out a large field at a recent Diamondhead Women Golfers Pal Tourney. The better score of two players, with handicap, was figured as a team score. The winning teams were Bond and Wynn Smith, first; Ida Mae Snow and Milly Rubin, second; and Margaret Price and Gloria Forstall, third.

Waveland, White Cypress horses battle at Downs

(SEA COAST ECHO)
PEARL RIVER, Ala.—Ultra Royal, trained by James Watson, won the second straight race at Oak Downs Sunday. Ultra Royal, ridden by Ray Robbins of Grand Bay, Ala., won by one length in the 400-yard fifth against Fast Home Run, owned and trained by Donald Cuevas of White Cypress.

Ultra Royal was clocked in 1:11.5. The previous week, Ultra Royal had defeated Omega Diane, a mare that has won more races at Oak Downs during 1981 than any other campaigner.

Two of the top horses performing at Oak Downs will go at it for the third time Sunday in a race featuring a $2,000 purse.

Billie Paid, owned by Charles Curtis of Lorman, Miss., and Jet On Line, owned by Donice Thompson of Polson, will square off in what promises to be an exciting match.

Billie Paid already has defeated Jet On Line in recent outings, winning by a head on Aug. 25 in a 200-yard race and again on Sept. 15 by two lengths at 300 yards.

Sunday's big race will be run at 300 yards.

Oak Downs operator Louis Smith said a barbecue will be featured Sunday at the Pearl River facility.

In action last Sunday, Coca Cola Cowboy, owned and trained by Johnny Lingo of Pearl River, was an early winner over two other two-year-old thoroughbreds in the five-minute first race.

Ridden by Leo Fricks of Piquette, Coca Cola Cowboy was timed in 1:08.47.

Little Al, owned and trained against One More Time. Long-time horse racing enthusiast, Edna Harless of Hattiesburg, Miss., the winner's circle for the umpteenth time in nearly 10 years of racing at Oak Downs when his baby's Red Man defeated Miss Van, owned by Bert Meyers of Polson, in the 200-yard third.

Sidanne, Alexander of Piquette was aboard Sandy's Red Man and also rode Beauty's Girl to victory in the five-minute sixth, tying with Ray Robbins of Grand Bay, Ala., for top jockey performance in the afternoon.

Robbins rode My Girl Jeanne to victory over three other thoroughbreds in the three-furlong fourth and booked home Ultra Royal's winner over Fast Home Run in the 400-yard fifth.

1) 5 furlongs, Coca Cola Cowboy, 1:08.47, Johnny Lingo, owner and trainer, Leo Fricks, jockey. Time's Gallantry, 1:08.99, Gusto, third, no time recorded.

2) 300 yards, Little Al, 16.30, Joe Eastwright, owner and trainer, Joann Boatwright, jockey. One More Time, 16.49.

3) 200 yards, Sandy's Red Man, 17.30, Edna Harless, owner, Marilyn Marchal, trainer, Suzanne Alexander, jockey, Miss Van, 18.32.

4) 3 furlongs, My Girl Jeanne, 18.97, Ode Good, owner and trainer, Ray Robbins, jockey, Snooks, 19.00, Little Black, 19.00, Easy Ride, fourth, no time recorded.

5) 400 yards, Ultra Royal, 1:11.5, James Watson, owner and trainer, Ray Robbins, jockey, Fast Home Run, 1:12.26.

6) 5 furlongs, Beauty's Girl, no time recorded, Bill Harless,

Governor's Cup Five Mile Run set for Ole Miss-LSU game day

The second annual running of the Governor's Cup Five Mile Run is slated for Saturday Oct. 31 in downtown Jackson.

This year's event will feature Mississippi State, Mississippi A&M, Mississippi State University, and the University of Mississippi. The race is open to all pre-registered runners.

The race is being sponsored by the Governor's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports, the Department of Economic Development, and the Department of Agriculture and Commerce.

Many special activities are planned for this year's run, including the participation of Governor William Winter, sportsman George Plimpton

(the Paper Lion), and Commissioner of Public Safety General Robert Berry. The course winds through historic downtown Jackson, passing the Old Capitol, the New Capitol, Old Central Bank, and the Governor's Mansion. The race will end at Jackson's City Hall. It has been called one of the fastest certified five-mile courses in the nation, with the course record being 22 minutes and 21 seconds. The race is being directed by the Mississippi Track Club, and traffic control is being provided by the Mississippi National Guard.

Post-race activities include the presentation of more than 100 awards to overall and age group winners. The awards are being crafted of Mississippi "mud" by the Delta State University Art Department. Malcolm Norwood, chairman.

Runners will be served Mississippi-raised coffee and fresh fruit. Hard's Root Beer and artisan deep-well water, furnished by Mississippi Bottled Water Company.

Providing entertainment will be the 1st Army band and the Baddour Memorial Center "Miracles" from Senatobia. The race has been designated a "Racing South"

Grand Prix Race, in which leading runners from the Southeast compete to earn points.

Following the run at 1:30 p.m., Ole Miss and Louisiana State University will renew their annual football rivalry in Memorial Stadium, less than two miles from the run's finish line.

For additional information and an entry form, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Governor's Cup Five Mile Run, 223 North President, Suite 404, Jackson, MS 39201.

Zachary Ladner likely PRC basketball starter

There is no better schedule for basketball fans around. I feel this is the best schedule Pearl River has put together in many years, probably one of the toughest in junior college this year," Holmes said, "but it's a chance to see how Pearl River stands on a national level."

The Cats return only two players of last year's squad, which went 17-10 in the regular season. Holmes, who coached the team last year, said the team is looking for a strong inside game, with some fast-paced guards. The team is looking for a strong inside game, with some fast-paced guards.

Boeing employee contract

The flight attendants' Warrenton Concentration Camp training program is completed, and the employees are back at work. Terry Borg, Warrenton, who is in charge of the Port of Everett Park neighborhood group, completed a week-long non-technical flight attendant training program in plastic.

The military-style Warrenton plant is capable of producing 10 million parts per year.

When the program opens in 1971, it will operate for at least 10 years.

The 150 employees are responsible for the operation of the plant.

James J. Smith, a staff member, said that the program is a "melodrama" which includes four inter-actants.

"We do 40 percent of the work," he said. "The education is the 50, and the college degree is the 10."

James J. Smith, a Warrenton employee, said that the program is a "melodrama" which includes four inter-actants.

"We have other, non-school, individuals who are professionals," he said.

Perkins, a modern employee, said that the program is a "melodrama" which includes four inter-actants.

Borg, a Warrenton employee, said that the program is a "melodrama" which includes four inter-actants.

Contractors in the area are working on the Circle.

In general, the system has no bosses, and a few years ago, every job was done by every job.

Thinks the College is important, and completed a week-long non-technical flight attendant training program in plastic.

At 105 Hawthorne, north of B. A. Borg, a local contractor, is working on the Circle.

Handed assignments to the ground, and the training program is the industry's first of its kind.

According to the training program, the district is working on the Circle.

Borg-Warner employees complete PRC training

The first phase of Borg-Warner's innovative Team Concept Management training program has been completed for its 15 new employees.

Terry Jones, manager of employee relations for the Borg-Warner Chemical plant, which is under construction in the Port Blenville Industrial Park near Anley, said the group has successfully completed an intensive four-week course in manager-technician training fundamentals.

The multi-million dollar plastic producing Borg-Warner plant is the only one of its kind in the world, with capabilities of producing 150 million pounds of ABS plastics per year.

When the plant officially opens in December, it will be completely automated and will operate 24 hours per day for at least 364 days per year.

The 15 carefully selected manager-technicians will be able to handle the entire operation.

Jones said the Borg-Warner staff was selected from 615 applicants. The final 15 went through a very select and meticulous selection process which included no less than four interviews.

"We chose the top two percent," Jones said, "and we didn't base our selection on education or experience. The ages of the 15 range from 22 to 53, and half of them have college degrees."

Jones noted that the 15 employees selected had varied backgrounds and ages. "We have employed a butcher, environmentalist, a school teacher, and individuals with many other professions," Jones said.

Perhaps as innovative and modern as the computer-managed Borg-Warner plant is the management system it employs.

Jones said his company calls it "Team Concept Management," other plants around the world refer to the new system as "Inner Circle."

In general terms the new system has no supervisors and no bosses, and over a period of a few years the entire work force will be able to perform every job in the plant.

This is where Pearl River College is playing a very important part. The recently completed four-week course was conducted by Pearl River at its Hancock County Center, north of Bay St. Louis.

At Bourgeois, director of the local center, hosted the training program and directed seven PRC instructors who handled the teaching assignments, projects, and assignments.

Grounds, facilities and equipment for this training program were provided by the Borg-Warner Chemical plant.

The instructors were: Tom Raphael, Borg-Warner technician, who presented Borg-Warner's plaque, the instruction and facilities provided by Pearl River College.

within our district. "I'm really amazed at the instruction we received from Pearl River College," Jones said. "I was really impressed with how the PRC instructors were willing to interact, communicate with our employees."

"Communications is the basis for the Team Concept Management," Jones said, "the Pearl River facility was very willing to broaden the field through group discussion."

Jones said he put together an extensive audit after the 30 days of instruction at the PRC Hancock Center. "To say the least, we were very pleased with the results." After the survey, or so-called final test, the 15 employees compiled a remarkable 92.4 retention rate.

"We would have been happy to move the group on to phase two with a 70 percent retention rate," Jones said.

During the phase one of instruction, the employees received a very broad exposure to the educational requirements needed for all positions within the plant.

Skills subjects taught by PRC instructors included: electricity, maintenance, welding, pipe fitting, and general shop tools. Educational courses included math, physics, calculus, trigonometry, and electronics.

"It was really impressed with how much depth we were able to get into trig and calculus and how these subjects were applied to the math needs of chemistry," Jones said.

Twenty percent of the Borg-Warner training is centered around communication skills. Jones said the employees will set their own work schedule, vacations and policies. They will also be responsible for

The new management concept teaches the workers to attack the problem and not the person. "They all try to identify the psychological barriers," Jones said.

Jones said the Borg-Warner plant will have no authoritative level within the work force and there will be no supervisors at the plant. "We will have team leaders," Jones said, "however, the team leader position will rotate every six months."

The employees will also design and justify all personal policy and procedures. "Outstaff will not only know what happens within the plant but they'll also know why it happens," Jones said.

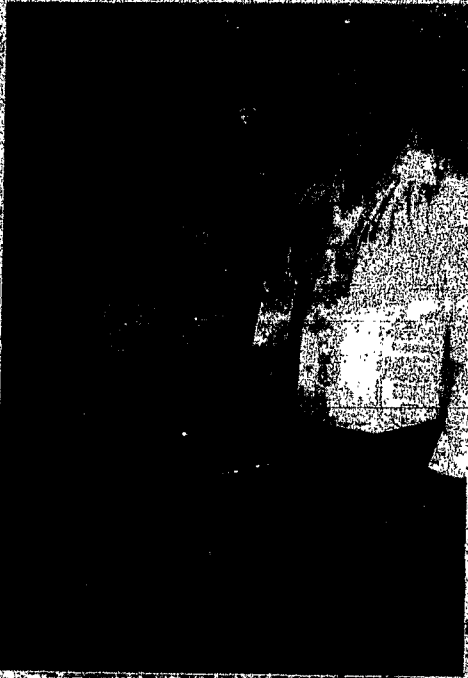

Jones said the complete training program will take about one and one-half years and by that time each employee will be able to handle every job at the Borg-Warner plant.

The new management concept was developed by Borg-Warner and is being used at the Borg-Warner Chemical plant in Port Blenville.

The training program was conducted by Pearl River at its Hancock County Center, north of Bay St. Louis.

FIRST PHASE TRAINING—Borg-Warner's first phase of their innovative "Team Concept Management" has been completed at the Pearl River College Hancock County Vo-Tech Center. Pearl River provided the facilities and seven instructors for most of the training for the first phase of the employees' training. The Borg-Warner plant is located in the Port Blenville Park. The $50 million facility is scheduled for completion in December. The 15 employees who will operate the facility, and Pearl River instructors are, first row from left: W.T. Coast junior college enrollment up 6.4%

In a preliminary report since more than 100 vocational students had registered after Coast Junior College showed the report was completed. He said that faculty and administrators are using advisory procedures in an effort to prevent dropouts and make a special effort this year to study dropouts and ways they can be prevented.

A college administrator last Wednesday told the school's board of trustees there was an increase of 237 students or 10.2 percent in the academic programs. Herb Carnathan, administrative assistant for institutional research and planning, said technical students attending full-time day was up 181 or 16.6 percent.

Full-time day vocational enrollment declined 155 to 22.6 percent. As a result of the decline in vocational enrollment and the increase in academic enrollment, the total enrollment for the fall term was up 263 or 6.4 percent.

G.C.J.C. President J.J. Hayden Jr. said he anticipated vocational enrollment to at least equal that of fall 1980.

Full-time day vocational enrollment declined 155 to 22.6 percent. As a result of the decline in vocational enrollment and the increase in academic enrollment, the total enrollment for the fall term was up 263 or 6.4 percent.

Dr. Spradley's forensic medicine course

The University of Mississippi's Dr. David Paul Spradley, a forensic pathologist, is offering a forensic medicine course for law enforcement officers and medical examiners. The course, which is the first of its kind in the state, will be held in the fall and will cover the basics of forensic medicine, including the identification of the deceased, the collection and preservation of evidence, and the use of forensic medicine in the courtroom.

The course is being offered by Dr. Spradley, who is a board-certified forensic pathologist and a member of the American Board of Forensic Medicine. He is currently a professor of forensic medicine at the University of Mississippi and is also the medical examiner for the state of Mississippi.

The course is being offered in cooperation with the Mississippi State Police and the Mississippi Department of Transportation. It is a 12-hour course and will be held in the fall. The course is open to law enforcement officers, medical examiners, and anyone interested in forensic medicine.

For more information, contact Dr. Spradley at 392-7200.

LD group seeking members

The first meeting of the Hancock County Chapter of the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities (ACLD) will be held Monday, Sept. 21, at 6:30 p.m. at the Hancock County Courthouse. The meeting is open to all who are interested in the organization. The organization is a non-profit organization that provides support and resources for children with learning disabilities and their families.

During the meeting, the members will discuss the organization's goals and objectives, and they will also discuss the needs of the children in the county. The meeting is free and open to all.

UNO sets enrollment record

The University of New Orleans broke the 14,000 mark and reached the highest enrollment in its 23-year history this month with 14,000 students registered for the 1981 fall semester. This total is a 700 increase over the 1980 fall enrollment. W. Richard Burleson, UNO director of institutional research, said that the university's enrollment has been growing steadily since its founding in 1958. The university's enrollment is expected to continue to grow in the future.

The university's enrollment is a reflection of its reputation as a leading university in the Gulf South. The university's enrollment is also a reflection of its commitment to providing a high-quality education to its students. The university's enrollment is a testament to its success in providing a high-quality education to its students.

Amateur radio convention set

The Gulf Coast Amateur Radio Society will be holding its annual convention at the New Orleans Airport Hilton Inn, 901 Poydras Highway, Kenner, La. 70146, on Saturday, Sept. 26, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. The convention is open to all amateur radio operators and is a great opportunity for them to meet and share their experiences with other operators. The convention will feature a variety of activities, including a technical presentation, a contest, and a social gathering. The convention is free and open to all.

The convention is being held in conjunction with the 1981 convention of the American Radio Relay League (ARRL). The convention is a great opportunity for amateur radio operators to meet and share their experiences with other operators. The convention is free and open to all.

Ole Miss homecoming events to include high school day

More than 2,000 high school students and junior college students from Mississippi and surrounding states are expected to visit the University of Mississippi on Saturday, Sept. 26, for the Ole Miss homecoming events. The events will include a variety of activities, including a football game, a basketball game, and a social gathering. The events are free and open to all.

EDUCATION OUTLOOK

By Billy D. Sills, Hancock County School District superintendent

The subject of vandalism has been a major concern of school board meetings and school officials. It is a major, but unnecessary problem.

It was agreed that more and better efforts must be made toward getting parents interested in their child's school and cooperate in every way possible.

It was suggested that the students themselves could help in the problems caused by vandalism by reporting incidents they witness immediately.

There are only a few students who are responsible for this vandalism, and we cannot condemn all our children for it.

Vandalism is a costly, reprehensible, and avoidable act. It is a matter of discipline, instilling in the home, aided and assisted by administrators, faculty, and other students.

We urge all parents and their children to join with us in this battle against vandalism and help protect the public's interests and their own.

It takes money from our funds that should and must be used for materials to educate our students.

We appeal to every parent to urge their children to report incidents to stop vandalism entirely.

It is an illegal act, breaking state laws by destroying public property and it harms every taxpayer.

With the full cooperation and support of parents, we can

PRC cosmetologists schedule open house

Pearl River College's Cosmetology Department will sponsor an open house for licensed cosmetologists from the Hancock County district supporting PRC and for all former PRC cosmetology students, Monday, October 12 from 8:00 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Lorayne McCallum, director of the department, said the Dimensional Design Team is presenting a PRC Cosmetology Laboratory, which will be featured at the open house day of education.

Wayne Chambliss, Connie Courteaux, and Leroy Courteaux make up the team which has toured the nation as the "Art and Guest Artists."

The workshop is free to AFT members.

AFT plans workshop

The Mississippi American Federation of Teachers will conduct a bulletin board workshop Wednesday, October 14, from 4 to 7 p.m. at the center on 501 Hewes Avenue, Gulfport.

The session features hands-on activities in which teachers make a variety of bulletin boards.

Church schools conduct fall open house

Grace Episcopal High School recently conducted open house at the Bay Avenue campus of the school for parents to meet teachers and visit classrooms.

Parents discussed concerns with the classroom teachers and a brief general meeting of faculty and parents was followed by a social hour where refreshments were served by the PTO.

"Fall open house" at Christ Episcopal Day School also was held recently at the Bay St. Louis campus of the Day School.

Parents of students from the nursery through the sixth grade visited classrooms where teachers explained basic procedures, curriculum, and expectations for learning achievement.

A free-type visitation was conducted with classroom teachers open to questions of concern and discussion with parents.

Current art work of students was displayed in the Art Department, as well as classroom work of each grade in the individual classrooms.

Headmaster Peter Palkoglos, Principal Myrna Jordan, and the PTO served as hosts for the occasion.

Refreshments were served by the PTO members.

Band Aides plan dance

The Bay St. Louis High School Band Aides is sponsoring a dance Saturday night, 8 p.m. to 11 p.m. at the Veterans Hall, 11 Main St., Bay St. Louis.

Music will be by Ray's Productions. Admission is $2.00 per couple and $1.00 for students.

Lucille Carvin and Charles Thomas as co-chairmen of the group for 1981-1982.

Other new officers include: Dan Welch, vice president; Dan Welch, secretary; Dan Welch, treasurer; Dan Welch, chairman.

West Carries Three Different Styles of Belwood Cabinets

HERITAGE—Our lowest priced cabinet design with the look of the furniture. Instead of being flush, the doors are handsomely framed with 2 7/8" molding. Decorative door pulls combine contemporary styling with a nut finish with the mellowness of old brass.

MONTICELLO—This design has just the right mix of simplicity and design detailing with its double cathedral doors. The warm Honey Pine finish and brass hardware completes the look of quality and quiet elegance.

RICHMOND HILL—Out top of the line design brings the elegant look of oak to your kitchen. Everything about it says quality. Hardware features an antique brass finish. The double cathedral, raised panel doors and front framed drawers solid oak.
